DARE TO SHOOT

TEN DAYS IN KENYA

African Safari is for young adventurers who Dare to Shoot in the deepest jungles of Kenya. Till now you only saw wild life documentaries on National Geographic or Discovery, we invite you to visit the very game parks where many of these were shot, except this time, you will do the shooting. Yes, Dare to Shoot is your big ticket to understand the Savannas and its inhabitants—both animals and the local Masai tribe and produce your very own broadcast quality documentary to be shared with the world.

We will take you to three different game reserves where you will stand face to face with some of the most exciting animal life on the planet. From lions, rhinoceros, hippopotamus, giraffe, zebra, ostrich, flamingos, elephants the list is almost endless. You will also have the rare opportunity to interact with the Masai tribe, visit their village and learn about their culture. They will teach you how to track animals in the bush, make fire with just sticks, and of course, dance like them.

You will get to feed giraffes with your bare hands and visit Jim Corbett's grave. We will also take you to animal orphanages where you will understand the rationale for their creation, and why conservationists are trying hard to save the animal planet. This is a journey like no other, to a place like no other, but are you an adventurer who will dare to shoot?
